

TRICKS TO ELEVATE A SIMPLE OUTFIT

NECKLACE

Add a touch of metallic detail to your plain white tee. This one that I've chosen is a sparkly golden choker made out of crystals. It is 39cm max total length with a Lobster clasp fastening. It is very dainty and lightweight with each stone being a 2mm square. Despite its size, it will definitely make a difference in your outfit. You can get a necklace like this in almost any accessory store due to its simplicity - I personally got it as a gift from my mom who was the person that first showed me how to wear and style jewellery. Dainty jewellery is an easy way to add polish and make an outfit look instantly more put together.

WEAR A BELT

Since adding a few statement belts into my wardrobe, I've found it makes a huge difference in making my outfit feel more put together. It helps clothes look more tailored and blend separate pieces together while adding texture to even the simplest outfit. My most worn belt is this smooth transparent belt with a silver heart buckle. The See-through material makes it easy for me to pair it with anything. This type of garment became popular after Chanel and Celine incorporated transparent bags, hats and shoes collections. This material is very durable and flexible at the same time. It is 36 inches in full length with the height being 4cm, it has 6 holes in it and I got it at a store called Brandy Melville.

ADD A BRIGHT POP OF COLOUR

A head to toe black-and-white combo is one of the most classic minimalist ensembles, but there's nothing like a pop of colour to help your monochromatic outfit stand out. A bright piece of clothing that vibrantly stands out against the rest of your ensemble. For example, this neon orange beanie. Beanies are a timeless, lifesaver headpieces when it gets really cold. This specific beanie is from the brand Beechfield which I got on Amazon for $3 - It's affordable, comfortable, and made out of soft-touch acrylic so it feels very smooth on the skin. This beanie is a perfect addition to a minimal look and could be the centre-piece of any outfit.
